AMENDED BILL IN THE HOUSE

Tariff Measure Comes Out of Caucus for General Consideration.

PROPOSITION TO SHORTEN DEBATE

Plan to Rush Enactment Without Unnecessary Delay.

Washington, April 21.—The democratic tariff bill as amended by the house caucus was re-introduced in the house today and will be called up for general debate Wednesday. The house rules committee is considering a resolution to limit the time for discussion and the number of amendments, aiming to put the bill through to its passage as rapidly as possible.

A resolution offered in the caucus would limit debate to eight legislative days, the number of amendments to each schedule to two and permit only two amendments to the bill as a whole. That was designed to prevent prolonged delay by the introduction by the minority of numerous amendments to each schedule when the bill is taken up under the five minute rule. Should that resolution pass it is estimated that a least three weeks will be required for house consideration of the bill.

Views of Its Foes.

With the re-introduction of the bill today views of the minority attacking it were presented to the house by Representative Sereno Payne and his republican colleagues on the ways and means committee. They maintain that the bill is uncalled for, that its provisions already have alarmed the country and that should it pass it will bring down wages to the level of those in foreign countries. The entire ways and means committee will meet late today to formally pass upon the bill and the majority report by Representative Underwood probably will be made to the house tomorrow.

President Wilson told callers today he believed the low rates of the tariff bill justified even though not permitting of many further cut for reciprocity agreements. The president told his visitors he thought the primary consideration was the advantage to the consumer and not necessarily retention of tactical advantage for further negotiations of reciprocity treaties.

NOMINATIONS SENT IN.

Strong is Named as Governor of Alaska by the President.

Washington, April 21.—President Wilson today sent the following nominations to the senate: Governor of Alaska, J. E. A. Strong, of Juneau; surveyor general of Alaska, Charles E. Davidson, of Alaska; auditor for the war department, J. L. Baity, of Missouri.

REPRESENT A BIG SUM.

New York, April 21.—Six hundred and fifty one claims for damages, aggregating $16,600,000, have been filed in the federal district court here against the Oceanic Navigation company for loss of life, injuries and loss of property in the Titanic disaster a year ago, according to a report made public today, of United States Commissioner Gilchrist. The court recently extended for thirty days the time limit during which certain persons residing abroad, may file claims. The time limit for all other claims has expired.

CONGRESS AFTER FIGHTING BANKER

Committee to See Whether or Not He is in Contempt.

NAMES A COMMITTEE

Washington, April 21.—Congressional investigation of the assault upon Representative Sims last Friday by C. C. Glover, a local banker and capitalist, was formally asked of the house today in a resolution by Representative Garrett, who called upon Speaker Clark to appoint a committee of five to report a course of procedure by next Saturday.

The personal encounter between the men was the result of a speech on the floor of the house wherein Representative Sims attacked Mr. Glover's alleged connection with a real estate proposition in which the government was interested. In published statements Mr. Glover admits having struck Representative Sims twice. Mr. Sims was willing to let the affair drop, but other members contend an attack upon a member of congress for what he has said or done on the floor is in contempt of congress itself.

The house passed the Garrett resolution with opposition.

Speaker Clark appointed Representatives Davis of West Virginia, Covington of Maryland, Crisp of Georgia, Prouty of Iowa and Nelson of Minnesota.

Representative Campbell of Kansas declared during a brief discussion from the study of the law he believed the house could not punish any one for an assault committed outside of the house.

IT MAY MOUNT UP TO $125,000,000

Even Son Has No Idea of Total of the Morgan Fortune.

AWAIT APPRAISEMENT

New York, April 21.—Interest in the will of J. Pierpont Morgan, made public yesterday, centered today in the question of the value of the financier's estate and in what disposition his son would make of the vast collection of Morgan art treasures. Less than $20,000,000 was accounted for in the specific bequests made by Mr. Morgan, the rest being the residuary portion left to the son without mention of the amount.

Some estimates made today placed the total estate as high as $125,000,000 but according to a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., not even the son himself can tell within many millions the actual value of the fortune. Until appraised by the state for the purpose of collecting the inheritance tax the question will probably remain open.

J. P. Morgan declined today to say anything in regard to the disposition of the art treasure, but it was intimated that he might have a statement some time this week. The treasure was left to the son with the hope that "he will be able in such a manner as he thinks best to make a permanent disposition or dispositions of them or such portions of them as will be a substantial carrying out of the intentions which I have cherished * * * to render them permanently available for the pleasure and instruction of the American people."

Mr. Morgan's will was filed for probate shortly before eleven o'clock this morning.

BOMB IS HURLED INTO CLUBHOUSE

Effort to Wreck Charged to Political Enemies of Tammany Man.

ALL ESCAPE INJURY

New York, April 21.—A bomb throwing which nearly wrecked the four story brownstone building of the Pocassett club, a Tammany organization early today is charged by the police against unknown political enemies of Nicholas J. Hayes, for 20 years the Tammany leader of the 28th assembly district. Hayes, a former sheriff, is president of the Pocassett club, which is located in 116th street in the heart of Little Italy of the upper east side.

The bomb, heavily charged with dynamite and tightly wound with wire, was thrown into a basement hallway where it exploded with such force that every window in that and some adjoining buildings were broken, part of one floor torn up, and the plaster of all four ceilings of the club house shaken down. The only persons in the place at the time were four men playing cards and a steward, none of whom was more than slightly injured. The thickly settled neighborhood, however, was roused almost to a state of panic. The perpetrator of the outrage escaped without leaving any clews behind.

BIG FLEET IS TO MAKE TRIP

United States Will Send Out Imposing Array of War Vessels.

SCHEDULE IS OUT FOR THE CRUISE

May Make Trip Through the Panama Canal When It is Opened.

Washington, April 21.—When the American fleet sails for the Mediterranean in January it will be a fleet of nearly twice the muzzle energy of the famous battle fleet sent around the world in 1907 by former President Roosevelt and a fleet of half again as great tonnage.

The schedule and ports of call have not been worked out yet in the navy department and it merely has been announced that the big fleet would tour the Mediterranian in divisions. It was the original plan in connection with the opening of the Panama canal to have the fleet pass through from the Atlantic to the Pacific about January 1, the tentative date of the opening. This practically is disarranged by the decision to send the fleet abroad, but it was pointed out today that from the Mediterranean it was a comparatively short voyage through the Suez canal and into the Pacific and the fleet could return that way, making the passage through the canal from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

The main ships of the line to go on the cruise will be the battleships Wyoming, Florida, Arkansas, Delaware, North Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Louisiana, Michigan, New Hampshire, South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Nebraska, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Connecticut, Kansas and Idaho.

Comparing these ships with the battle fleet which went around the world, they aggregate a tonnage of 364,580 as

RALPH HOOVER SENTENCED.

Van Wert, Ohio, April 21.—Ralph Hoover, the 19-year-old farmer convicted of murdering his girl wife, Helen, aged 16, today was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The murder took place on January 10. Hoover accused a stranger who he said entered the house during his absence. His wife named him as her slayer in her death bed statement.

STATE NURSES TO COME TOMORROW

First Day's Sessions to Be Attended by School Superintendents.

OUTLINE OF PROGRAM

While the annual convention of the Indiana State Nurses association opens in Fort Wayne tomorrow for a three-day session, the majority of delegates will not arrive until Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, as the business of the first day will be largely of a preliminary nature and will be attended by superintendents of training schools throughout the state.

Headquarters will be maintained at the Anthony hotel, but the first meeting will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Lutheran hospital. After the transaction of all preliminary matters the superintendents will enjoy luncheon at the hospital, and will then go to Hope hospital for the afternoon session.

The afternoon meeting will be called to order by State President Ethel Chisholm, of the Union hospital, Terre Haute. The address of welcome will be delivered by Miss Laura Logan, superintendent of the Hope Hospital Training School for Nurses in this city. The response will be delivered by Miss Edith Willis, of the Good Samaritan hospital, Vincennes.

Among the papers to be read at the afternoon meeting will be one entitled "The place of Dietetics in the Nurses' Curriculum," by Miss Elsa Maurer, of Hope hospital. The first day's session will close with a tea at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Hope hospital.

Beginning Wednesday morning the convention will get down to business. The morning will be occupied by the presentation of official reports and the annual address of the president, and in the afternoon unfinished business will precede a program of papers and addresses, followed by an automobile ride about the city, and in the evening a reception will be held at the Anthony hotel by the Hope and Lutheran hospital Alumnae associations.

One of the features of the closing day will be a clinic by Dr. L. P. Drayer and a trip to the Indiana school for feeble-minded youth, where a clinic will be conducted by Dr. George Bliss, superintendent.

MINISTER BURNED TO DEATH.

Ziling, Okla., April 21.—Rev. John Leslie, his wife and their son, were burned to death late yesterday when they were overtaken by a prairie fire which swept Major county north of Barney postoffice. Their bodies and those of their horses were found by the roadside today.

POPE IS ALLOWED CHANGE OF DIET

Pontiff, Much Improved, is Eager to Begin His Work Again.

CAUTION IS URGED

Rome, April 21.—The pope this morning was in much spirits and felt stronger. He still suffered somewhat from coughing. As the day was sunny, the pontiff was allowed to rise and sit in an arm chair in front of the closed window. For the first time since his last relapse the pope was able to look into the Plaza Di S. Pietro, which was alive with people.

When he saw that a large number of flags were flying, he asked the reason and was informed that today was the anniversary of the foundation of Rome 2,663 years ago. "Cities grow with age while men decline," remarked the pope.

The physicians and attendants of the pope are taking the greatest precautions to prevent him from making any exertion just now, as any activity on his part is still regarded as dangerous.

The pontiff, however, is eager to begin work again, and often insists that Mgr. Bnosnan and Mgr. Pescini, his private secretaries, read him the most important of the letters which accumulated during his illness.

The betterment of his health was so marked today that Prof. Marchiatava permitted him a change of diet. The patient's luncheon consisted of rice cooked in the Venetian way, a small piece of chicken breast and half a glass of old Bordeaux.

AN INDEPENDENT TICKET BREWING

Anti-Hosey Democrats and Progressives May Go Into Combine.

AWAIT A PRIMARY

Republicans of Fort Wayne who, it is said, as a party, will not have a candidate for the mayoralty nomination this year, a large number of progressives and most of the anti-Hosey democrats are today discussing a plan whereby they may win out if the forthcoming primaries do not nominate candidates to their liking, and since Senator S. B. Fleming will not be a candidate, it is considered likely that their scheme will be carried out.

Their plan is to place an independent ticket in the field after the primaries. They are allowed to do this under the state law by petitioning the election commissioners, and if the right men are not nominated on June 27, the primary date, steps will be taken at once to complete a ticket composed of progressives, republicans and anti-Hosey democrats.

Mr. Fleming's candidacy was favored by representative voters of all political parties in Fort Wayne, but now since he has emphatically refused to be a candidate for the mayoralty nomination, those who were working for him realize they will have to get busy. Republicans, democrats and progressives this morning discussed the advisability of the naming of an independent ticket and it is believed that this will be done.

Just who will head the independent ticket has not been settled, but there are a lot of good men who would make excellent mayoralty timber, and among them are Charles McCulloch and P. A. Randall. Mr. Randall has previously stated that he would not consider being a candidate on any ticket, either democratic or independent, but his friends are again after him.

Since Saturday members of the Fleming crowd have attempted to get the senator to reconsider his statement that he will not be a mayoralty candidate, but their earnest efforts along this line were fruitless.

TO ERECT HOTEL BUILDING.

Order of Red Men Will Decide on Matter at Meeting.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 21.—For the purpose of deciding on a date when proposed hotel building and lodge temple shall be erected at the northeast corner of Market street and Capitol avenue, a site owned by the order, members of the building committee of the Improved Order of Redmen met this afternoon at the state headquarters. Other matters up for consideration were the adoption of building plans and the selection of a lessee for the hotel.

AGE DOESN'T IMPROVE MAN.

Wife Asks for Divorce After Trying Him Thirty-Eight Years.

New York, April 21.—For thirty-eight years Mrs Goldie R. Goldesman has borne her husband's cruelties, she says, in the hope that he would reform. Now that he is 74 and exhibits no indications of improvement, the indulgent wife, in her sixty-fifth year, applied to the court for separation and maintenance. The husband is Nachson Goldesman, a retired photograph manufacturer. They were married in Minsk, Russia, and lived in London for many years. Twenty-six years ago they came to New York, the husband devoting himself to photographic specialties. Wealth rewarded his efforts and seven years ago he retired to manage several houses he had purchased out of his profits.

WIPE OUT THE WHOLE FAMILY

Threat and Motive Are Uncovered in Elgin Murder Case.

GIRL TELLS WHY CRIME WAS DONE

Insulted Wife and Then Killed Her to Prevent Telling.

Elgin, Ill., April 21.—"I'll wipe out the whole family some day," Herman Coppes told Ida Sleep, eleven years old, two months ago for having a chastisement administered by Manny Sleep, husband of the woman and father of the two babies found murdered in the Sleep farm near here, according to a statement made by the girl today preceding the funeral of the victims at East Plato. According to Detective Held, special investigator for the state's attorney, the boy had insulted Mrs. Sleep and when she rebuked him and theatened to tell her husband, he shot and killed her. He then murdered the babies because they were eye witnesses.

The coroner's jury absolved the father from any connection with the crime. No arrests have been made it is said.

Coppes, who is a prisoner in the county jail at Geneva, awaiting action by the grand jury, maintained the same attitude as he did yesterday when he confessed to the crime in detail. Apparently he does not realize the enormity of his act.

Coppes laughed yesterday as he admitted having shot Mrs. Sleep for no reason at all and while her children looked on. Then, that they might not tell what they saw, he killed the children with a hatchet.

The boy murderer then threw their bodies into the empty cistern. For five days following the crime he ate his

REFUSE RUM AND PREPARE TO DIE

Auto Bandits Play Cards on the Eve of the Execution.

HAD A PRESENTMENT

Paris, April 21.—None of the three automobile bandits who were guillotined in the French capital this morning, would take the big glass of rum offered as is usual to men about to be executed. Callemain and Soudy just signified their refusal by a nod while Monier declared: "I will not alcoholize myself."

Without the definite knowledge that Monday was to be the day of their death the three condemned men played cards on Sunday afternoon in jail. Suddenly while the game was going on, Callemain rose and said:

"I have a presentiment that this is my last day. Tomorrow I shall see Deibler, the executioner." This morning when he was told "your time has come," he said, "Then this is the day without a tomorrow."

Returned the Stamps

"I thank you very much."

POSTMASTER Robert B. Hanna laughs over the incident as heartily as anybody—and those who have heard Robert's laugh know what the statement means.

"It was before I was appointed postmaster of Fort Wayne," said Mr. Hanna, "but at the time my name was being mentioned strongly as a possibility and it was no secret that I desired the appointment.

"My mother was away from the city on a visit to friends in Canada. In order to be certain of hearing from her frequently I sent her a quantity of postage stamps. With her reply, after receiving them, she returned the stamps to me with this comment:

"'I thank you very much for the stamps, but I hope, Robert, that if you become the postmaster of Fort Wayne you will learn, among other things, that the Canadian government doesn't look kindly upon Uncle Sam's postage stamps being attached to correspondence going out of Canadian cities."

What the Congressmen Think of Themselves

Washington, April 21.—What members of the sixty-third congress think of themselves became public today when the new congressional directory was issued. The new directory contains biographies of representatives and senators prepared by themselves.

Lawyers, as usual, form the bulk of the legislature. Sixty-nine are in the senate and 270 in the house. In the senate there are eight editors, six farmers, five business men, five bankers, two doctors and one soldier. The house contains seventy-nine business men, thirty-three editors, ten teachers, eighteen farmers, nine mechanics and workmen, six bankers, six doctors, one author, one soldier, one preacher and one lecturer. The directory lists in the senate fifty-one democrats, forty-four republicans and one progressive. In the house 290 democrats, 127 republicans, seven progressive republicans, nine progressives and one independent, with a vacant seat caused by the death of Representative Legaree, of South Carolina.

New Member Heads List.

The roll call, which for several congresses, has been lead by Representative Adair, of Indiana, will be led in this congress by a new representative, John W. Abercrombie, of Alabama. The new senator from Kansas, William Howard Thompson, in discussing his future, says:

"It is acknowledged by all who know him that as senator he will not only bring credit and honor to himself, but to the state and the nation as well."

Generally, the biographies in the new directory are remarkable for their brevity, as compared to former publications. Many of the members confined themselves to simple statements of their private records. The shortest biography is that of Representative Lindberg, of Minnesota, who describes himself simply as "republican of Little Falls."

Mr. Kinda of Colorado, discusses his activities against "Discriminative railroad rates" and says that the vote of his district that elected him" proves conclusively that the people of Colorado are wide awake to the needs of fair and equitable transportation."

Representative L'Engle, of Florida, says he studied in the public schools of the state and is still trying to get an education, while Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois," was educated in the school of 'hard knocks.'" Mr. Biemer, of New Jersey, declares he "never ran for office until, against his will, he was practically unanimously nominated for the sixty-third congress."

CARE OF FATHER BRINGS A REWARD

Emma Dawkins Principal Heir in Will of William Dawkins.

OTHER COURT NEWS

William Dawkins, aged resident of New Haven and a pioneer of Allen county, who died last week, rewarded the faithful care given him and his business affairs by his daughter, Miss Emma Dawkins, by giving her $500 in cash, all his other personal property and half of all his real estate holdings.

He states in his will that the daughter remained at home and cared for him in his last illness. The remainder of his property is to be sold and the proceeds divided between his other children, Mrs. Alfred Yoquelet, James W., John W., and Cora Dawkins.

Murphy Case Dismissed.

When Judge John W. Eggeman dismissed the case of Mary Murphy against Frank Murphy, in the circuit court this morning, he closed an interesting bit of domestic wrangling which has been in the courts for several months. The first case filed was when Frank Murphy wanted the circuit court to grant him a divorce from his wife. Before the case came to trial, she filed a complaint, asking for an annulment of the marriage and $1,000. The husband then withdrew his case and refiled it in the superior court where he was granted a divorce two months ago.

Ophelia Springer has filed suit for divorce in the superior court from Clarence David Springer, and in her complaint charges cruel and inhuman treatment and says that her husband beat her and accused her of intimacy with other men. Emrick & Emrick are her attorneys.

SIX CANDIDATES ARE AFTER PLACE

Board of Education to Meet and Appoint New School Superintendent

TO SUCCEED FELGER

When the Allen county board of education goes into executive session Tuesday for the purpose of selecting a new superintendent of Allen county schools to succeed Henry G. Felger, resigned, it will have plenty of timber from which to select the official, and among the list of candidates is one woman, Flora Wilber, at present head of the Fort Wayne Normal school.

"Politics will be entirely eliminated from the office of county superintendent," said Township Trustee H. E. Branning today. Mr. Branning is at the head of the county board of education. "The meeting of the board will be held in the office of County Auditor Calvin Brown and with so many candidates it is likely to take considerable time for the board to select the proper applicant."

The candidates besides Miss Wilber are Paul Wilkie, a farmer residing in Wayne township; Fred L. Smith, superintendent at Harlan; D. D. McComb, at present employed in the office of the county auditor; Nathan W. Coil, superintendent of the public schools at Roanoke; B. H. Smith, serving his second term as superintendent of the New Haven schools and A. R. Parker, superintendent of the Monroeville schools.

Petition to Board.

At a session of the executive board of the Women's Club League a set of resolutions were drawn and with an accompanying petition sent to the township trustees, endorsing the appointment of Miss Wilber as county superintendent. The resolution follows:

"It was voted at the executive meeting of the Women's Club League, which consists of the officers of the league, the presidents of the various clubs and affiliated organizations, that the league unanimously support Miss Flora Wilber as a candidate for county superintendent of Allen county. The committee appointed for that purpose passed the following resolution:

"Be it resolved, That we endorse Miss Flora Wilber as a candidate for the position of county superintendent of the public schools, and we earnestly recommend her to the township trustees of this county as one who is in every way qualified for this position.

against 223,500. Navy officers point out that a more striking example of the advance in the navy's effective fighting power is shown by a comparison of the muzzle energy of the main batteries of the fleet with the world girdling fleet of 1907.

In round figures the muzzle energy of the battle fleet of 1907 summed up 5,300,000 foot pounds. The main batteries of the fleet which will make the Mediterranean trip will total 9,550,000 foot pounds—almost twice as much. The battleships will be accompanied by all the destroyers that can be spred and an accompanyment of supply ships. This official announcement by Secretary Daniels makes it apparent that the ships will go fully equipped.

While it is the plan now to have the ships sail about January 1 and make their first call at Gibraltar, with possibly a stop or two on the way, a schedule and plan of the ports of call have not been worked out. Those who will watch the tour of the fleet are evincing a great deal of interest as to what this schedule will provide. The navy department's official announcement declares that the fleet will be too large to be accommodated at any one time in many harbors to be visited and that at Gibraltar it will be divided and make a tour of the Mediterranean in divisions.

meals from a table directly over the cistern. He said that the presence of the dead and mutilated bodies beneath him "didn't bother him a bit."

Sleep Shows Horror.

Only once during the day did the boy give any evidence of remorse for his crime. He wept loudly as the farmer, Sleep, entered the cell room in the Elgin police station. The police had feared that Sleep would seek to wreak vengeance upon the slayer. They searched him carefully for weapons. They accompanied him to the cell.

Sleep drew back in horror as he saw the cringing boy. For a moment he seemed unable to speak. Then his voice rose in a shrill cry.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself? How could you kill those poor babies? Haven't you any conscience?" cried the father.

The boy's wailing cry was his only answer.

The confession was wrung from Coppes early yesterday morning by Edward H. Held, a constable, and Deputy Sheriff George German, but all of their questioning failed to reveal any real motive for the crime.

Boy Gives Murder Details.

Once the boy said the killing followed a quarrel with Mrs. Sleep, after she had said she "would see about it" when he refused in ill humor to do some chore about the farm.

Coppes said that he had returned to the farm house after school last Monday afternoon. He took off his hat and coat and Mrs. Sleep asked him if he was hungry. He did not reply, but pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot her, he said.

The children, Sarah, 4 years old, and Orville, 2 years old, scurried beneath the kitchen table. The mother ran through a pantry door and slammed it behind her. Again Coppes shot, this time through the door panel, and then followed her through into the parlor. There she fell, and he sent three more bullets into her prostrate body, according to his confession.

Used Hatchet on Babies.

When the children peered through the pantry door the murderer grabbed a hatchet and ended their lives.

Then he dragged the bodies back to the kitchen, pried up the trap door to the cistern and threw them in.

Reloading the revolver, the youth leaned over the cistern opening and again fired at the lifeless bodies. Then he tossed the weapon into the well, threw the hatchet out into the yard and went to milk the cows.

THE LINEMEN'S TROUBLE.

Editor of The Sentinel:—The present trouble of the electric linemen of this city calls out attention to the fact that the public in general does not realize the dangers that confront the electric linemen of the present day. The linemen take their lives in their hands every time they leave the ground and go up on a pole. There are hundreds of dangers confronting him, each one meaning sudden death if not properly handled. There are other occupations considered hazardous, but few of them can be compared to the risks taken by the linemen. There is no better proof of this than the fact that it is impossible for a lineman to get insurance on his life and next to impossible to secure any accident or liability insurance. If a company is willing to take the risk the rate is such that the linemen cannot pay the high premiums.

LINEMEN'S UNION NO. 723.

Evangeline Klinkel, aged 12 years, daughter of W. M. Klinkel, 910 Rivermet avenue, was thrown from the back of her Shetland pony Sunday morning and suffered a painful and deep cut in her groin when the little animal stepped on her. The injury is not serious, but the girl will be kept from school several days on account of the accident.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR HOMER YOUNG

Gets Into Trouble While Under a Suspended Sentence.

CITY COURT AFFAIRS

Homer Young, who has a sentence of one to seven years in the penitentiary hanging over him in the Allen circuit court for neglect of his children, narrowly escaped from being sent over to serve that sentence this morning when Judge Mungovan in the city court handed him $10 and costs and a thirty days' suspended sentence for immorality. The police picked up Young early Sunday morning in a house on Duck street in company with Minnie Hawk.

Over in the circuit court Young is held under $250 bond for the payment of $15 a month for the support of two small children, and failure to make his payments will result in his going to the penitentiary. It is understood that Young's parents will pay the fine that was imposed this morning. Otherwise Young would be obliged to serve twenty days in jail, which fact probably would prevent him from making his monthly payment for the support of his children.

Young fought the charge against him this morning on the grounds that he went to the home of the Hawk woman to look for his wife after he had gone home and found her absent. Mrs. Young testified, however, that she never has visited at the Hawk residence, so this story didn't take very well with the judge.

Two others were arrested in the house with Young and Mrs. Hawk, and gave their names as Nellie Haley and Jim Tooley. Tooley didn't appear in court, but forfeited his bond. He drew $10 and costs and was sentenced to ten days, which was suspended. Minnie Hawk and Nellie Haley were each fined $10 and costs and given sentences of ten days.

In giving Young his sentence Judge Mungovan informed him that he is uncomfortably close to the doors of the penitentiary as the police would be instructed to arrest him at any time he enters a saloon or is seen in company of lewd women. He must keep the straight and narrow path in the future or he will be made to serve the suspended thirty days. If this sentence is enforced its significance will be that he will be re-arrested and sent to serve the other sentence.

The Other Cases.

Jack McCarty was sent over for fifteen days on a charge of public intoxication with a previous conviction, and Andrew Henning got $1 and costs for getting drunk. Henry Butterfield, John Clark, Frank Rogers and John Daw, four drunken bums, each drew fifteen days in jail.

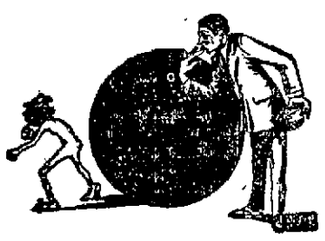
Pimples Source of Great Danger

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.



The research laboratory of The Swift Specific Co. has collected a vast amount of information regarding the spread of blood diseases. In thousands of instances the most virulent types have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may not be had at almost any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone among specific remedies as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than from disease germs direct. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

Get a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

The School Board's Appeal

Despite earlier crusades of the local school authorities against the outlawed high school fraternities and the signed agreement of many pupils some two years ago to refrain from identification with them in any way, recent developments have moved the city school board to address an open letter to patrons of the high school and manual training school, calling attention to the fact that both the school regulations and the state laws are being flagrantly disobeyed by many pupils and appealing for parental aid in stamping out the societies that will make still more drastic action by the school authorities unnecessary. We do not believe Fort Wayne parents can afford to ignore this request if they desire, as they most assuredly do, to contribute to the welfare of their children in high school and to spare them the humiliation and embarrassment that must inevitably follow further infractions of the law. Stated plainly, the attitude of the school board means that the frat and the sorority organizations, forbidden by law in the schools, are going to be effectually stamped out—quietly, if possible, but put out of existence in any event. Parents and patrons of the schools can help immensely if they will do so. If they refuse to lend their aid, or, what is yet worse, if they go to the length of attempting to uphold their children in this defiance of the law in the mistaken belief that the frats are not so bad as they have been painted, and that they are a harmless diversion for the students, they are but inviting the exercise of the drastic measures that are the last resort of school authorities in dealing with this evil. There will be no hesitancy in applying these measures if the reform cannot be effected without it. Disclosures make it evident that there has been a marked disposition upon the part of pupils to evade the law by organization of social "clubs," despite the fact that they are open to the same criticism as are the frats, are quite as objectionable in every particular, and serve no wholesome purpose in the lives of boys and girls during the school period. These "exclusive" societies and clubs have no legitimate place in the life of the schoolboy or the school girl. The best of them can be but in evasion, if not an open defiance of the state law. In its appeal to parents the school board shows that it realizes where the largest measure of responsibility for the existence of this state of affairs lies after all.

The selection of Hon. Perry A. Randall as president of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis society, is in all respects an admirable one. Mr. Randall is not only invested with ability of high calibre, but he is thoroughly permeated with public spirit that invests his work with an enthusiasm that is contagious, and he has a courage that no amount of disappointment can daunt. He will be invaluable at the head of the anti-tuberculosis movement in this city.

"Oh, I don't get drunk very often—just about once a month," is the admission credited to a 17-year-old boy in police court a few days ago. This amazing conception of relative virtues is even more striking than the existence of the facilities that enable a mere boy to get hold of the liquor by which he maintains his general average.

There would be little objection from anybody save the politicians if the board of education tomorrow should select some well-qualified woman as superintendent of Allen county schools—and the politician hasn't any business in school affairs in any event.

Despite Senator Fleming's emphatic declaration that he isn't going to be a candidate for mayor of Fort Wayne, a lot of his friends are plainly taking steps in an effort to demonstrate to him that he is mistaken about it, after all.

NO RIGHTS OF INHERITANCE.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

The inheritance tax ideas of Vice President Marshall are causing no little comment in the east. Newspapers like the New York World that usually show a scholarly knowledge of political economy have picked up and denounced his statement that there is no inherent or natural right to devise property.

One only has to go to the familiar textbooks of college days to be convinced that the weight of authority favors the assertion that there is no such inherent right. For instance, Richard T. Ely, professor of political economy in the University of Wisconsin, in his "Outlines of Economics," a text book widely used by universities, states that the right of inheritance today is not recognized as a natural one. Blackstone, in fact, practically makes the same assertion in his "Commentaries" when he distinguishes such rights of inheritance as the state has given from the fundamental rights of private property.

The error into which Mr. Marshall's critics have fallen lies in their human tendency to accept an existing institution as natural. Rights of property in human beings was once one of these "natural rights." Today we look upon the right of private ownership in land as though it had always existed, whereas such private ownership is a comparatively recent development of the ancient communal rights that were just as fixed in their day. As Prof. Ely says, "The seemingly eternal features of the social structure are gone in a few generations. Even the wage system and the division between capital and labor which seem rooted in the constitution of society are scarcely two centuries old as a general system."

The very fact that we tax inheritances at all is proof that we can tax them more, even to the point of confiscation, if we please. The tendency toward progressive rating and taxation of direct as well as collateral heirs shows that society is rejecting any doubts it ever may have had as to its power to do what it will with inheritances. The expediency, however, of confiscatory taxes, discouraging as they are to the human instinct to provide generously for children, is quite another question.

A REMARKABLE APPEAL.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

The fact that the dispatch comes direct from Peking through reliable channels compels credence in a report that otherwise might seem incredible. This is that an official appeal has been sent out by the Chinese government to all the Christian churches in China to set aside Sunday, April 27, as a day of prayer, that China may be guided to a wise solution of the problems before her. It is the first instance in history where such an attitude has been taken by a non-Christian nation.

Additional impressiveness is given to the appeal by its transmission to all the governors and high officials in whose jurisdiction Christian communities may be found, and the representatives of the provincial authorities are instructed to attend the services. The skeptical may suspect that it has been shrewdly designed by Yuan's administration for effect abroad, to attract popular support in Christian countries for the new course of their governments. But even if this were true, the moral effect of such a proclamation officially recognizing the Christian communities and evidencing governmental friendliness to their faith, may have far reaching influence in promoting the Christianization of China's millions.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES?

(Grand Rapids News.)

It will not be surprising if one result of the wage dispute between the firemen and the managers of fifty-four eastern railroads, which is now being arbitrated under the Erdman act, will be an attempt on the part of all the railroads of the country to secure an increase of freight rates from the interstate commerce commission. This move, it is presumed, will be made as soon as the eastern wage dispute is settled.

The fifty-four railway companies allege that if the demands of the firemen for higher wages are granted, the payrolls of the companies will be increased $9,600,000 a year. The railroads will contend that to meet this increase, as well as to offset larger tax payments and higher prices for supplies, which have increased operating and maintenance costs, it will be necessary for them to increase freight rates.

Of course, it must be remembered that the railroads may be making this threat as a side argument against any increase in wages, and to forestall a threatened demand for higher wages on the part of railway trainmen, which, it is rumored, is to be made as soon as the firemen's case has been arbitrated.

COST OF STEAM TOO HIGH.

In all of the striking of the clock, one hour stands out first—when a man meets his family at the evening meal.

Then, indeed, does he come to know their true merit and realize they're worth the best. Then does he recognize they deserve the best of everything—food above all things. And so when he has provided

BED COVERING IS NEEDED BY POOR

Relief Committee Will Finish Its Work by Last of This Week.

SENDS GARDEN SEEDS

The committee in charge of the work of relieving the needs of Fort Wayne's flood sufferers, expects to have its work completed by Friday of this week. More than three thousand cases were reported after the women's canvass of the flooded districts last Thursday, and it will take until that time to satisfactorily take care of all the people who need help in again furnishing their homes and making them fit places in which to live.

Mrs. W. H. Noll and her assistants remained at headquarters in the office of Township Trustee H. E. Branning all day, but the demands for aid on the part of the flood victims today were very light. A few came to headquarters and most of them wanted clothing or fuel, the latter being necessary on account of the noticeable drop in temperature.

Visiting the homes of some of the flood sufferers in the outskirts of the city, members of the Woman's Club league discovered a big demand for garden seeds, and at a session held Saturday, they decided to furnish seeds to all who need them and are not in position to supply themselves. A message was sent to Congressman Cyrus Cline and as a result 500 packages of assorted garden seeds have reached the city from Washington, D. C. If more than that amount is needed, the women will purchase enough to supply those in want.

The arrival of cooler weather Sunday resulted in a call for bed coverings, and Mrs. Noll says that an effort will be made today to send supplies along this line to all those who were found in need of bedding by the women who canvassed the city.

All those who donated to the high water relief fund and all who assisted in the work of relieving the suffering of Fort Wayne's flood victims, have been asked to attend a mass meeting to be held Tuesday night in the office of Mr. Branning. The meeting will decided what is to be done with the remainder of the found, which amounts to slightly more than $7,000. Those who attend will also discuss the plans for helping the poor of the flooded districts in the future.

Prisoner Resorts to Painful Means to Escape Jail.

Berlin, April 21.—A prisoner in the Ploetzensee prison named George Schlick has made various attempts to force the prison authorities to discharge him, or at any rate remove him to the hospital ward. He at first feigned insanity, and when this failed to deceive the authorities he started a hunger strike. He is a powerfully built man, however, with a great appetite, and the pangs of hunger finally conquered his resolution. He then adopted a new scheme. While making bags in prison he carefully concealed as many needles as he could, and while at work with his fellow prisoners he swallowed the lot. He was hurried to the hospital, where he became unconscious. Afterward he was removed to a Berlin hospital, where he is to be operated upon. The man lies in a critical condition.

BROTHERS MEET FOR FIRST TIME.

Edward and Peter Baker Had Never Before Seen Each Other.

For the first time in his life Edward Baker, aged thirty-seven years, employed at the Coverdale and Archer grocery, met his only brother, Peter Baker, Saturday afternoon when the latter walked into the store on Harrison street.

The boys had never met, even as infants, for Peter, the older, left home and resided with his grandfather before Edward was born. At an early age Peter Baker went west and resided on a ranch until a short time ago, when he and his wife, with their only son, moved to Marion, Ind. There Peter's wife died and then he went to Huntington, where he met a sister. He was then directed to Fort Wayne to find his brother.

Mr. Baker, of Marion, contemplates moving to Fort Wayne, and with his seven-year-old son will reside with Edward Baker.

MANN SETS FIVE WORKS A-GOIN'

Caustic Criticism is Indulged in on the House Floor.

AFRAID OF HEARST

Washington, April 21.—Discussing democrats, past and present, Republican Leader Mann set off some fireworks today on the floor of the house. Thomas Jefferson, William Hearst, Speaker Clark and Secretary Bryan were referred to by Mr. Mann in the course of caustic criticism of the house democrats. Representative Willis, of Ohio, wanted printed a recent letter of Wm. R. Hearst discussing President Wilson's visit to the house and a letter of Thomas Jefferson on the same subject. Representative Fitzgerald objected.

"The gentleman objects," shouted Mr. Mann, "to printing a letter of Thomas Jefferson, the putative father of democracy. Democratic doctrines have evidently wandered far from those of the days of our fathers."

"Doesn't the gentleman think," interrupted Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, "that it is democratic heresy to connect Jefferson with Hearst?"

"You democrats," continued Mr. Mann, "are not afraid of Thomas Jefferson because he's dead, but you are afraid of Mr. Hearst because he is alive. Some day we will read in the papers, I suppose, of another reconciliation in which Mr. Hearst will figure. But it will not be a real reconciliation. It will be a Clark-Bryan reconciliation."

A roar of applause came from the republicans. Speaker Clark pounded the desk with his gavel. "The house will be in order," he shouted, but the words were lost in another round of applause in which both sides of the chamber joined.

"This side of the house," Mr. Mann said, "sympathizes with the speaker in the recent struggle and we are not afraid to say so, because we are not seeking the influence of the secretary of state in the selection of jobs."

SALSBURY IS APPOINTED.

Progressive Gets Place on the Indianapolis Election Board.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 21.—Elias B. Salsbury, the progressive nominee for the city board of election commissioners, was appointed to the board today by Edward A. Ramsey, city clerk, on the order of Judge Remster, of the circuit court. He will take the place to which Schuyler Haas, republican, was appointed by Ramsay some days ago.

Salsbury as plaintiff, today withdrew that much of his complaint in which he alleged that there was a conspiracy to prevent the progressives from putting their candidates on the city election ballot and Ramsay and Haas immediately withdrew their answer in general denial.

HALF MILLION ON STRIKE.

Cheerful Spirit Prevails in Second Week of Great Demonstration.

Brussels, Belgium, April 21.—The general strike for equal suffrage in Belgium enters on its second week, with the ranks of the strikers unbroken and, in fact, strengthened by the adhesion of still further recruits, bringing their totals up to nearly 500,000, according to socialist computations.

A cheerful spirit prevails among the working classes, who feel that the government will be obliged to yield at least to the compromise suggested by the liberal leaders. This provides that the equalization of the parliamentary franchise shall be immediately taken up for consideration. A committee is now dealing with the provincial and commercial franchise and hopes to evolve a plan improving on the present method.

TOOK CUP FOR TAXES.

Duchess Victim of Collector When She Refused to Pay.

London, April 21.—Distraint was levied today upon Duchess Adeline, of Bedford, an ardent suffragist, for non-payment of her taxes. A silver cup was taken to satisfy the claims of the tax collector.

The duchess took this means of showing her hostility to the taxation of women while they are still without the franchise.

"Arson squads" of militant suffragettes were out in several places last night. They burned a hayrick in Wiltshire belonging to the father of Charles Hobhouse, the chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, and they set on fire the grand stand at the Ilford foot ball grounds, but the flames were quenched by a watchman before they had spread.

CURED OF CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

"For twenty-one years I suffered with chronic constipation," says C. W. Robinson, of Cordova, S. C. "In May, 1908, it had assumed a more serious form, resulting in indigestion, piles and neurasthenia. Life seemed a burden to me. Two famous physicians and one specialist with all their drastic drugs failed to help me. A friend advised me to give Chamberlain's Tablets a trial, which I did, and am pleased to say two bottles of them cured me." For sale by all dealers.

FIRE-BUG CONFESSES CRIMES.

Love of Excitement Causes Farm Laborer to Start Many Fires.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, April 21.—The clanging of fire engine bells and the excitement of aiding in daring rescues caused James Dodds, 23, a farm laborer, to start more than 100 fires in Winnipeg and St. Boniface in less than a year, according to a confession, the police say, made to them. Dodds, who was arrested while setting fire to a large barn, admitted that he was responsible for the Radford-Wright fire several months ago, in which seven lives were lost, the police allege. "I love to hear the fire bells, hurry with the crowds to the burning buildings and watch the flames leap into the air," Dodds is quoted by the police as saying. Officials say his operations have caused losses aggregating more than $1,000,000.

The Wildwood bungalow at South Wayne and Kinnaird avenues will be open again for public inspection Tuesday afternoon. The house has attracted a great deal of attention among the designers and builders of houses, and among persons who are interested in owning artistic new homes.

The little building is planned along lines that are considered the most practical, and that are by far the most artistic, and it is one of the few dwellings of perfect bungalow type in the city.

The reception Sunday and Saturday afternoons was attended by many interested people. The house is furnished and decorated, and looks thoroughly livable. The furniture is in good taste, the big living room being furnished in mission style, with heavy table and chairs, and the little den beside it in the new Crex woven material. The furniture is the property of the Pape Furniture company, and Cusma T. David supplied the big oriental rugs that cover the floor.

The bungalow will be open to the public Tuesday afternoon.

MR. CHAPIN AS "LINCOLN."

Woman's League Lecture Course to Present Great Attraction.

When such men as Richard Watson Gilder, Newell Dwight Hillis, Charles Battell Loomis, President Hadley of Yale, Gen. Horatio King, Mark Twain and many others say that the presentation of "Abraham Lincoln" by Benjamin Chapin is a pleasure and not pain, is impressive and masterful and not a poor imitation, is a "realization of a Lincoln's personality worth a whole season's reading," it is better appreciated how great is this attraction of the Woman's League course to be presented on Wednesday evening in Westminster church. The probability is not that only season ticket holders but more people than can find seats will be present as the entertainment is one that appeals to men and women who remember Lincoln when living but will be irresistible to the youth who are students and readers of history.

Dainty Frock for the Summer Girl

(By Billie Burke.)

I like the little costume so much that I wore in Chicago recently in the first act of "The Mind the Paint Girl," that I had it photographed purposely for my girl friends who might want to copy it in some of their summer frocks.

My pretty frock is of pink taffeta, made with a narrow plain skirt gathered at the waist, and over it is just a long peasant blouse of the pink taffeta belted with a wide dull blue taffeta with one sash end folded over in the back. The front of my little dress is low with a chemisette of net edged with shadow lace.

This dainty gown, which is simplicity itself, would be very good looking in blue or pink linen or gingham or even white lawn.

Don't trim it with anything except to put in an embroidery or lace chemisette, as the beauty of the gown is its simplicity.

I think a blue chambray with a dull green sash would be very pretty and for the girl who wanted to wear the gown for teams a soft pink or brown linen would be quite the thing.

The dress is very narrow at the bottom and is split up in the front about half way to the knee. This would necessitate a pretty white petticoat.

The summer the tub gowns are to be very simple and the girl who is handy with the needle can make herself a number and she can keep always clean and dainty looking. Don't make your skirts too narrow. A yard and three-quarters about the feet is a good width unless you are a very tiny person.

Gingham and cotton voile make very pretty gowns, and they are especially cool and comfortable. If you like and need a black taffeta it can be made as my little pink dress, and use a Bulgarian sash.

Aren't you glad that summer is almost here? A pretty girl never looks as well as in the light wash gowns, and when you know you are looking well you are far along the road to happiness.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

David Belasco to Present "The Woman" Wednesday Evening.

A strong, vital, resounding note is struck in "The Woman," the powerful play which David Belasco will present in this city next Wednesday evening at the Majestic.

Those who saw "The Woman" on the occasion of its first performance in Washington and it was applauded by all of official Washington from the president down—declared it to be an epoch-making drama. Its brilliant young author, William C. deMille, has taken his material from the life of today, the life that is close to us and of which many of us form a part. It is a play of political intrigue so true and direct that it must exert a powerful influence in the nation-wide crusade against graft and corruption. With all this, it tells an appealing love story.

This city is more than fortunate to see this newest Belasco drama immediately following its long New York and Chicago runs. It is one of the "big" plays of the season. Its cast will be of that perfection which Mr. Belasco alone maintains and will include Jane Poyton, Mary Nash, John W. Cope, Edwin Hult, Cuyler Hastings, Harold Vosburgh, William Holden, Carlton Macy, Stephen Fitzpatrick, Langdon West, James Gerson and others.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" Next Saturday.

The many thousands who have read the story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" written by John Fox, Jr., will be impatient to see the play, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which Eugene Walter, the clever dramatist, has evolved from the delightful narrative of the Virginia hills which comes to the Majestic Saturday matinee and night. It is a soul-stirring dramatic tale of the hills, with a wild primitive girl as the pivot on which swings the thrilling plot. The play is given a magnificent setting and the production enjoyed long runs at the Boston theater, and the New Amsterdam theater, New York, where it played to the biggest business of late years.

Mrs. Fiske in "The High Road" Coming Next Monday.

"The High Road," the new play in which Mrs. Fiske is to be seen at the Majestic next Monday is said to offer fine opportunities for that intimacy and fidelity in stage pictures which is so characteristic of her productions. The scenes are radically different each from the other and as each act marks an epoch in the life of the character portrayed by Mrs. Fiske there is as much of a change in the background of the action as in the action itself. In all of the Fiske productions there is no elaboration for its own sake but there is an eminently satisfying sense of completeness and harmony. The scenic features, too, are an adjunct of the dramatic, they are never permitted to overshadow them; the one is made the complement of the other, not the dominating feature.

AT THE EMPRESS

The new Empress show, headlined by "The Girl in the Vase," a Lasky production, is finding appreciative audiences this early in the week. The production is a musical comedy in tabloid form, presented by a cast of eleven players, not to mention a musical director. "The Girl in the Vase" is from the pen of C. B. DeMille. When Mr. DeMille wrote the famous play "Strongheart" two years ago for Robert Edeson, he built a dramatic novelty of heart interest that has been unsurpassed. In the fanciful scenic musical novelty, "The Girl in the Vase," he has constructed the best novelty seen in vaudeville in some time. Among the catchy musical numbers "The Merry Minuet," "Ain't It Dark?" and "That's the Kind of Fellow I Could Love" stand out most prominently. "The Girl in the Vase" is a big splendid act for popular priced vaudeville.

The remainder of the show is highly pleasing, starting with Beth Stone and assistants, Hines and Fenton. This act is termed "Story Dancing" and describes it best, for in pantomime in turn is shown the burglar, the pursuing "cops" and other interesting numbers. Miss Stone does one barefoot dance that is pretty, in fact all her numbers show extreme grace and ease.

Mat Keefe, well known as a yodler, is this year in better voice than ever and his "Sleep, Baby, Sleep," and kindred pieces find much favor. Keefe is an artist in his line and by many is regarded as the worthy successor of that once favorite, "Fritz" Emmett. Harry Antrim, another "single-handed entertainer," but distinctly different from Keefe, creates lots of merriment with imitations of the various barnyard fowls as well as with stories. Bayonne Whipple and Walter Houston have an amusing sketch called "Spooks." It is full of bright lines, funny situations and is altogether entertaining. The Kinemacolor program is the best thus far presented. The daily matinees this week will doubtless prove attractive and there are a few reserved seats being sold for each.

Washington, April 21.—Many women were on the anxious seat today in anticipation of the meeting of the national board of management of the Daughters of the American Revolution for it is expected the board, before it adjourns late this afternoon, will have named the important committees that will serve throughout the coming year. There are many aspirants for the honor of committee assignments. Mrs. William Cummings Story, the new president-general of the society, went over the situation with members of the board yesterday, but the decision, if any was reached, was not divulged.

CHICAGO POLICE GET CLUE.

Russian Gypsies May Have Kidnaped Indiana Girl.

Chicago, April 21.—A clue that may lead to the capture of the kidnapers of Katherine Winters, the 9-year-old daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters, of Newcastle, Ind., missing since March 20, was given the police here yesterday when they searched a camp of gypsies in a suburb. The chief of the camp gave information that leads to the suspicion that the child may be with a band of Russian gypsies which camped near Newcastle at the time of the child's disappearance. Local representatives of the department of justice are investigating. There is a reward of $2,000 for the return of the girl unharmed.

GIVE BALLOT TO THE WOMEN

Question to Be Argued at W. C. T. U. Mass Meeting Tonight.

SALOONS DENOUNCED

A mass meeting will be held this evening in the assembly room at the court house under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of Allen county, at which time the question of woman suffrage will be debated by two prominent women speakers, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, of Liberty, Ind., and Mrs. Retta Jones, of Alexandria, Ind.,

MRS. ELIZABETH STANLEY, State Lecturer of the Indiana W. C. T. U.

the former favoring the giving of the ballot in el. national, state, county and municipal elections to women, and the latter opposing it. The meeting will be open to the public generally. Both women are able platform speakers and the discussion will be interesting.

Mrs. Stanley, who is the state vice president of the Indiana W. C. T. U., delivered an address on temperance Sunday afternoon at a meeting held at the Grace Reformed church by the W. C. T. U. and spoke again at a meeting in the evening held at Woodburn. Her address Sunday afternoon was a masterly plea for the abolishment of the saloon and the prohibition of the liquor traffic and held her audience intensely interested.

Holding the saloon responsible for most of the poverty and suffering existing, she denounced it as "a disease breeder" and "a crime builder," bringing sickness and death and filling our asylums, jails and prisons, substantiating her assertions by facts and statistics she had gathered by personal visits at these institutions, particularly those in Indiana.

Under the county option law, she said, saloons were driven out of seventy-two counties in Indiana. Its good effect was shown in the decrease of crime.

CONCORDIA SCHOOLS.

Contract Awarded for Extensive Addition to Building.

The congregation of the Concordia Lutheran church held a special meeting Sunday afternoon at which time the contract was awarded for the extensive additions that will be made this summer to the parochial school building. The principal contract was given to Henry Kaiser, his bid being $15,265. John F. Schwegman was the successful bidder for the plumbing and the Kruse Electrical Manufacturing company was awarded the contract for the wiring of the building. The contract for the installation of the heating plant will be awarded later.

The new addition will cost approximately $22,000 and will be equipped in an up-to-date manner throughout. In connection with the erection of the new addition there will be important changes to the old building. Three class rooms on the second floor are to be combined into one large hall and other extensive changes will be effected after the closing of the present school term.

The rapid growth of the schools necessitates this enlargement of the school building. The scholars now number over 300 and there are five teachers employed. The pastor of the church is Rev. August Lange, under whose charge the congregation is making rapid growth.

EMMAUS OFF IN LEAD OF LEAGUE

Opening Night Scores in Walther Tourney Show Up Well.

CHANGES ARE MADE

In the first night scores of the Walther City league for the bowling championship in the organization the Emmaus five got away in the lead with a score of 2769 with Trinity, St. Paul, Junior, and Zion following in the order named.

Everything was in safe shape for the opening night and a big crowd was out to watch the bowlers in the initial performance of the biggest event the Walther leaguers have ever undertaken.

In the two-men events W. Buuck and C. Hegerfeld landed 1037 for the high mark of the opening night, the former carrying the team to the front by doubling in his first and second game. Nieman and Wellman are second in the list.

W. Rippe tabbed 583 for the best number in the singles, registering 210 in the second game for his high score. W. Buuck is second and is twenty pins behind the leader. ATKINS IN FORM FOR THE OPENER

Worked to Good Advantage in Appearance at First Game.

LEAGUERS WON OUT

In his initial appearance before a Fort Wayne crowd as a member of the Billiken pitching staff, Tommy Atkins, former Athletic and later a Southern leaguer, looked fit for the going and he will probably do mound duty in the opener at Dayton.

Interested fandom will readily remember that this same Atkins injected some thrills into the championship race of last season when he checked Francis Shaughnessy's troupe in the last few days of the campaign and gave Erie and Youngstown a peak at the gonfalon.

He finished the game against the Shamrocks at League park yesterday and indicated that he is ripe, or rather that he is in better form than any other member of the staff and is fit to go against Manager Johnny Nee and his Veterans in the curtain raiser.

Walter Justus worked the early shift in the combat and was hit only twice, but he was a bit wild and gave half a dozen passes. He has been under the same handicap that the other pitchers have had to contend with and has not been able to get control. However, he is pretty sure of a berth on the hurling staff and may get his chance at Dayton in the second contest.

Frederick "Cyclone" Alberts was sent in to work a few rounds for the Shamrocks and did not pass a man during his stay on the elevation. While the Fort Wayne team is not in smooth running order it has some intelligent ball players who will soon get the system, and with the exception of first base the club looks good.

In Watt Mart Cleary has apparently picked up a nifty little outfielder. The lad covers a lot of ground and picked off two or three hard ones in the game. John Vincent Robbins opened the game, and although it was his first work, he held the leaguers in leash and displayed excellent judgment and pretty good control all the way through.

Other new men in the line-up and who look like they will help the team were Frank "Chick" Carr, Bartels, Pequignot, Roseker and big Buck Benoy, the newest addition to the pitching department.

There was a fair crowd in the stands, and this would probably have been bigger if the fences had been up high enough to prevent a view of the grounds from the east and north sides. Some of the people who wanted to see a free game were not content with remaining on the outside but a number crawled up on the collapsed bleachers and remained seated there during the performance.

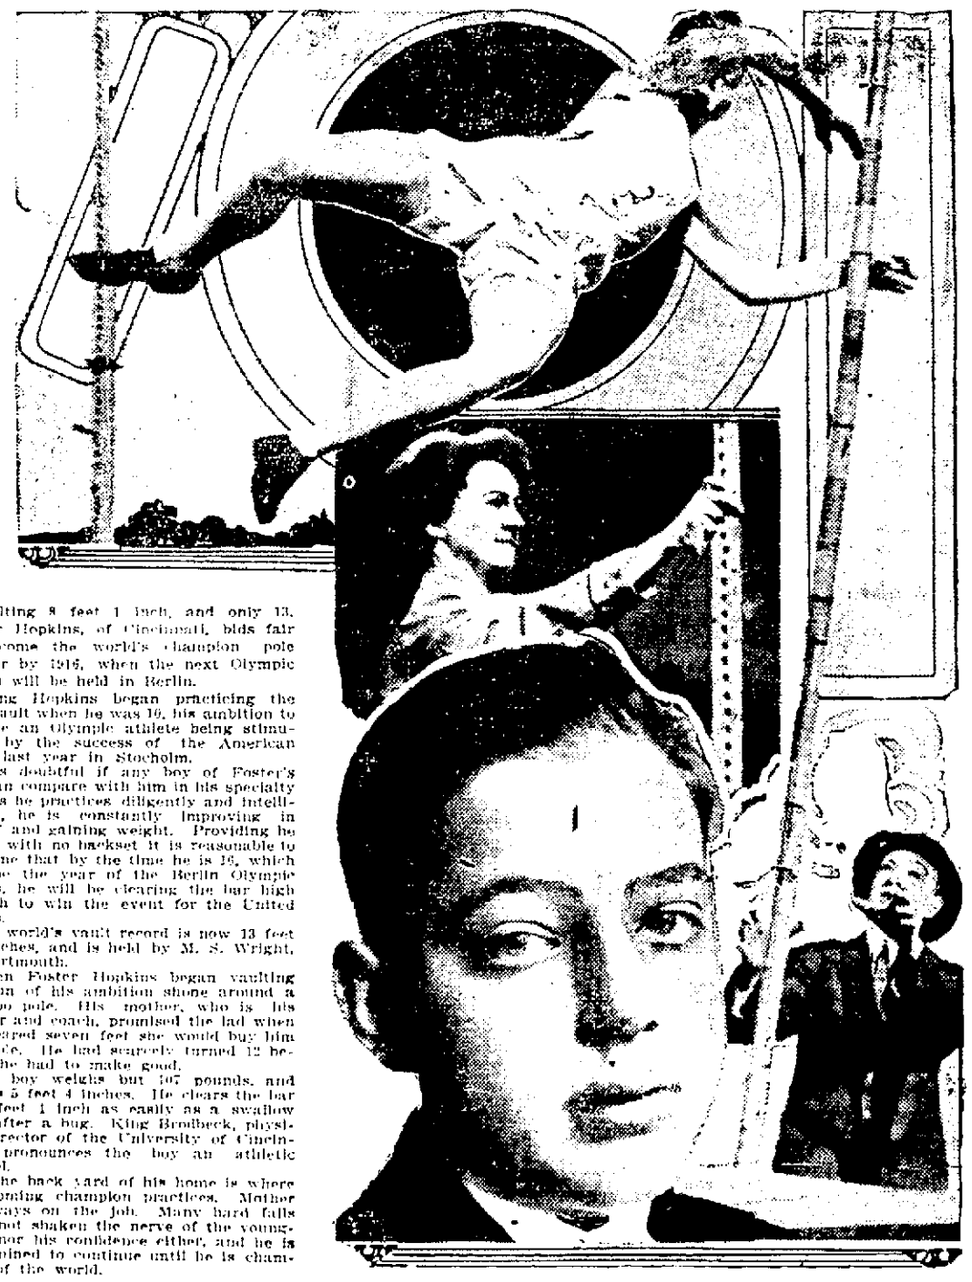
WONDERFUL 13-YEAR-OLD ATHLETE BEGAN TRAINING WHEN 10 TO BECOME WORLD'S CHAMPION POLE VAULTER.



. Vaulting 8 feet 1 inch, and only 13, Foster Hopkins, of Cincinnati, bids fair to become the world's champion pole vaulter by 1916, when the next Olympic games will be held in Berlin.

Young Hopkins began practicing the pole vault when he was 10, his ambition to become an Olympic athlete being stimulated by the success of the American team last year in Stockholm.

It is doubtful if any boy of Foster's age can compare with him in his specialty and as he practices diligently and intelligently, he is constantly improving in "form" and gaining weight. Providing he meets with no backset it is reasonable to presume that by the time he is 16, which will be the year of the Berlin Olympic games, he will be clearing the bar high enough to win the event for the United States.

The world's vault record is now 13 feet 2¼ inches, and is held by M. S. Wright, of Dartmouth.

When Foster Hopkins began vaulting the son of his ambition shone around a bamboo pole. His mother, who is his trainer and coach, promised the lad when he cleared seven feet she would buy him the pole. He had scarcely turned 12 before she had to make good.

The boy weighs but 107 pounds, and stands 5 feet 4 inches. He clears the bar at 8 feet 1 inch as easily as a swallow dips after a bug. King Brodbeck, physical director of the University of Cincinnati, pronounces the boy an athletic marvel.

In the back yard of his home is where the coming champion practices. Mother is always on the job. Many hard falls have not shaken the nerve of the youngster, nor his confidence either, and he is determined to continue until he is champion of the world.

M'LAFFERTY WILL PLAY FIRST BAG

Clever Goes to Second for Starter and Team is Ready.

KEENER WILL PITCH

Mark McLafferty has solved another problem for Manager Jimmy Burke and unless the Billiken pilot makes another shift before the opening game at Dayton Mac will be at first with Clever at second Fabrique at short and the leader at third.

Crooke, who tried out for the place at first, will go to the Winona team in Minnesota, Leggett will be returned to Detroit for disposal and Belstein was released outright this morning. Manager Burke had this to say: "I know I am apt to let some good men go but nobody can look over a lot of players in ten days and pick a team.

"I am afraid I will do an injustice to some of the pitchers that will be let go but the club cannot afford to carry a big salary into the season and I will just have to cut some of them loose.

"Pitchers cannot get in condition in ten days. They ought to have at least three weeks but they haven't been able to get it here and I just simply have to let some of them go tomorrow."

The outfield will be composed of Tutweiler, Bashang and Jansen, and if Roy Keener remains with the club he will be a member of the pitching staff. He and the manager could not agree on this point until he was told that it was pitch or nothing. He is needed as a pinch hitter, and can be of more service on the pitching staff than any place else. His work last season indicated that he can pitch a good brand of ball.

In the pitching department, aside from Keener, Atkins, Justus and Young look best and they will all be retained for the start at least and probably another will be held so that there will be half a dozen ready for the opening game. Loudermilk bought from Noblesville, and Valladingham, secured from Louisville, have not reported for some reason or other, and are under suspension.

Billy Strawbridge will stay here and train with Frank Shaughnessy's Ottawa players, and Mullin will also be taken over by the same team. If there are any others left over Shaughnessy will probably give them jobs as his club is not complete because he lost several good men last season.

Owner Claude H. Varnell came in this morning, and was pleased with the progress made at the grounds during his absence. He will remain here today and will go to Dayton with the club for the opening there on Wednesday.

Manager Burke had all his men out for a stiff workout today and will put them through another one tomorrow before they leave for the first battle.

CINCINNATI HIT WILL BE SCORED

President Heilbroner is Out Early With an Injunction.

BULLETIN IS OUT

In order to insure uniform scoring in the Central league President Louis Heilbroner has issued a notice to his official scorers to give a single on what is known as the "Cincinnati," and has settled a matter that has long been in dispute. His weekly bulletin covers the point.

Among the releases noted in the document is that of DeLong, the Antwerp player, who was with Grand Rapids, and who for a time made a good showing at first base, and who promised to give "Doc" Schmick a run for the job. The bulletin is as follows:

The official scorers of the Central league have been instructed to give the batter a base hit on what is known as the "Cincinnati base hit." This is the play in which an attempt is made to force an advanced runner on either a bunt or sharp hit grounder to the infield, the attempt failing, though the play is made perfectly with no sign of an error.

Last season several catchers were in the habit of dropping the third strike for the purpose of getting the assist by making the throw to first base. Scorers are requested to watch this play and omit giving the assist if in their judgment the ball has been dropped intentionally.

ANDERSON TRIES ANOTHER PLUNGE

Takes Hold With Billy Wayland as Part Owner of Tots.

IS A SECOND VENTURE

Terre Haute, Ind., April 21.—In the purchase of a half interest with Billy Wayland in the Terre Haute club, Edward J. Anderson has taken his second plunge as manager-owner, having tried the same trick at Wheeling last season, where he and E. V. Robertson went against a line of tough luck and lost out.

The deal for the sale of the club has been pending for some time. At the close of the 1912 season Mr. Wagner announced he would not be at the head of the enterprise another year. Several times negotiations were opened for the sale of the property and when none materialized it was predicted Mr. Wagner would rescind his decision to dispose of the club, but he stuck to his declaration and has made good his promise to turn the franchise over to people who would be able to devote their entire time to it.

Mr. Wagner feels that in disposing of the club to Mr. Wayland, former secretary, he has done the best thing for the league and for the Terre Haute fans. He made the following statement:

"The Terre Haute baseball club now is incorporated. Mr. Anderson has been elected president and manager, and Mr. Wayland secretary and treasurer. Each is a young man and the club will be their bread and butter. They will devote their entire time to the direction of the team's destiny. For this reason I believe the club is in th ebest hands and that it will prove a success. Much as I would have liked to do it, I could not devote my entire time to the club. Mr. Wayland and Mr. Anderson will be able to do this. The club does not owe a dollar and the prospects are bright for the future. The Booster club is back of the boys and Terre Haute appears to have the brightest prospect of many years."

The new owners said:

"It is the policy of the Terre Haute Baseball club to provide sport of the highest standard for Terre Haute fans. We will endeavor to show the people who come to Athletic park this summer a real baseball team. Nothing will be spared to make the club a success. We ask the support of the public in this enterprise.

"We are not claiming a pennant and we cannot say we will win the 1913 Central flag. No club owner can say this with any degree of certainty for the best laid plans go astray. We do claim that the local club will be in the field fighting until the last game of the season is played. We believe we have the nucleus of a winning ball club. We believe we have the best prospects any Terre Haute club ever has had. With the loyal support of the fans and the players, we are going to show this city a real baseball team."

GOT RID OF HIS YELLOW STREAK BY HYPNOTIC INFLUENCE.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH.

From Du Maurier's "Trilby" to Gunboat Smith, the California heavyweight, is a pretty far cry, but there is something about the Gunboat that reminds one of the fiction character. In the first place, "Trilby" is as famous for her bare feet as she was for the fact that under the hypnotic spell she became a great singer. Of course, Smith does not box in his bare feet, but his feet nevertheless are a great part of him, as it was through or by them that he was given his title of "Gunboat." They are No. 10c—gunboats. The next point of resemblance between Smith and "Trilby" lies in the fact that Smith also has attained greatness in the fistic circle to something akin to hypotism, his Svengali being Jim Buckley, his manager. When Smith broke into the game in California he gave every evidence of possessing a yellow streak as wide as a barn door. Given a good start, he would fight like a tiger, but if the other fellow managed to reach him first with a punch that stung it was Smith's custom to look for a nice soft spot on which to drop. Time after time Smith stopped, or tried to stop when things were not breaking right with him and Smith and "streak" became synonymous.

Then came Buckley. The New Yorker was in California with Harlem Tommy Murphy, and saw Smith in one of his good fights. He was impressed and invited the gunner to join his stable. Smith accepted and ever since has fought like a champion, doing good work under the heaviest of fire. Not once under Buckley's management has Smith shown signs of lack of heart. The only way that Pacific coast fans can account for this wonderful transition is that Buckley possesses hypnotic power and by means of it has aroused the latent courage of his charge. Whatever it may be, he has transformed what is known as a ring hound into a boxer with the courage of a lion, and one hammering rather loudly on the championship door.

THE ONE MOST NECESSARY THING A MAN MUST DO IS DRESS WELL. WHEN YOU GO TO GET A POSITION, IF YOU ARE NOT WELL DRESSED, THE MAN YOU APPROACH FOR WORK WILL SAY: "I'M SORRY, BUT WE REALLY HAVEN'T A PLACE OPEN FOR YOU."

IF YOU HAVE A POSITION, AND WANT TO GET A RAISE IN SALARY, RAISE THE STANDARD OF YOUR APPEARANCE. YOU OWE IT TO YOUR EMPLOYER TO "LOOK PROSPEROUS." IT HELPS HIM PROSPER AND WILL HELP YOU PROSPER.

New York, April 21.—"I commit my soul into the hands of my Saviour, in full confidence that having redeemed it and washed it in His most precious blood. He will present it faultless before the throne of my Heavenly Father, and I entreat my children to maintain and defend, at all hazard, and at any cost of personal sacrifice, the blessed doctrine of the complete atonement for sin through the blood of Jesus Christ, once offered, and through that alone."

This is the extraordinary and striking utterance which begins the last will and testament of John Pierpont Morgan, who died at Rome on March 31 last, whose body, heaped over with flowers from the crowned heads of Europe, was, a fortnight later, brought back to his own land, and last Monday was borne to its last resting place at Hartford, Conn.

Will Anxiously Awaited.

Ever since the funeral the publication of the great financier's last will has been awaited with keen expectation, and it is safe to say that of all the interesting testaments of eminent citizens of America, that of Mr. Morgan, to be offered for probate here Monday morning, is by far the most interesting.

As to the amount of the estate, which is one of the first questions the public naturally is asking, there is nothing in the will to give any accurate idea, and the executors declare that no announcement will be made on this point until the appraisal has been made for determining the state inheritance tax.

The amount of the bequests and trusts, named by specific sums, is under $20,000,000, but the entire residue of the estate is left to J. P. Morgan, jr., who is designed by his father to become the chief heir, not only to his fortune, but to his many charitable and artistic activities. To the widow is given $1,000,000, also an annual income of $100,000 additional, the country home at Highland Falls, N. Y., and the mansion in New York city, together with all furnishings.

As to the document itself it is unusual in many of its features and, according to those two or three intimate friends who have already had a glimpse of it, it is a portrait of Mr. Morgan himself, beginning with the striking confession of his religious faith (a side of his character which was known to his close associates, but not to the world) and running through all its thirty-seven articles, duly set forth in the same logical and orderly fashion which, his friends say, marked all Mr. Morgan's mental processes.

He has apparently provided with painstaking care for every contingency that might affect his family or his banking firm, and to his executors—namely, his son, John Pierpont Morgan, jr.; his two sons-in-law, William Pierson Hamilton and H. L. Satterlee, and his friend, Lewis Cass Ledyard—he gives careful directions under many clauses as to alternate courses of procedure.

It is to be noted also that his grandson, Junius Spencer Morgan, jr., a young man of only 21, now a student at Harvard, is repeatedly nominated to take up important duties in the event of the death of his father, John Pierpont Morgan, jr.

Public Bequests Few.

In this city the question most frequently asked by leading citizens and learned societies has been that as to the disposition of Mr. Morgan's wonderful collection of pictures and other art treasures. Mr. Morgan makes perfectly plain his own hope that the Wadsworth Atheneum at Hartford, Conn., be utilized to make the collection permanently available to the American people, and yet he leaves his son, who is his residuary legatee, entire freedom in the matter.

Few Charitable Bequests.

The public charitable bequests are, as was predicted by many of those conversant with his immense benefactions made during his lifetime, comparatively small, and are in the direction of those objects to which Mr. Morgan's benefactions are already well known. For instance, in the case of the great lying-in hospital in New York to which years ago Mr. Morgan gave over a million and a quarter of dollars, he uses the following language:

"Without imposing any duty, trust or obligation upon my residuary legatee I request that he continue, so long as in his judgment the same shall be necessary for its support, the same as I had been in the habit of doing during my lifetime, to the society of the lying-in hospital of the city of New York." This annuity here alluded to is known as having been $100,000.

It is worthy of note that the will was executed as lately as January 4, last, and a codicil was attached on January 6, only the day before Mr. Morgan took leave of America on the trip abroad from which he never returned. The document begins with the religious utterance which already has been quoted. Article II provides that his body shall be "buried in the family burial place prepared by my father in Cedar Hill cemetery at Hartford, Conn., and that the same simple funeral arrangements adopted in the case of his father shall be carried out in his own case.

Article III directs the payment of his funeral expenses, etc., and then gives to his executors the following:

"Full power and authority to recognize and pay as among such debts any promise or obligation made by me, verbally or otherwise, which although not in such form that the holder could compel payment thereof by my estate, my executors think proper to be paid in their own judgment or because from memoranda or verbal directions left by me, or from other sources they are satisfied that it would be my wish to have paid."

Disposes of the Estate.

The disposition of the estate then follows, the first provisions being those for his own family. "To his beloved wife, Frances Louisa Tracy Morgan," the income for life of a trust fund of one million dollars with power to dispose of the capital by will. Mr. Morgan explains that "I give my wife this power of disposition in order to enable her to make such legacies as she may desire to her relatives or friends or for charity."

Mrs. Morgan is already entitled to the income of a trust fund created by Junius Spencer Morgan (Mr. Morgan's father) by deed dated July 1, 1867. The will provides that she is now to receive for life the income of an additional trust of such amount that her total income from these two trusts shall (aside from the income of the one-million-dollar fund) amount to $100,000 a year. Mrs. Morgan also receives during her life "Cragston," the Morgan country place at Highland Falls, N. Y., and also the Morgan home at No. 219 Madison avenue, New York, together with the furniture, paintings, etc. (except family portraits) in both houses. The taxes and insurance upon both these pieces of property are to be paid during her life, not by Mrs. Morgan, but by the estate.

Children Cared For.

The next articles of the will are devoted to Mr. Morgan's children. His son, John Pierpont Morgan, jr., receives an outright legacy of $3,000,000. His two married daughters, respectively, Louisa, the wife of Herbert L. Satterlee, and Juliet, the wife of William P. Hamilton, receive each the income for life from a trust fund of $3,000,000. Upon the death of these daughters these funds are to go to their children, but each daughter is given power "to dispose of said sum of $3,000,000 by will among her issue in such shares or proportions and such lawful trusts as she may think proper." The third daughter, Miss Anne Tracy Morgan, likewise receives for life the income from a trust fund of $3,000,000 and in the event of her marrying and having heirs, the same provisions hold good as apply to her elder sisters. In case of her death without children, she may bequeath to her husband out of the trust fund $1,000,000.

Mr. Morgan's two sons-in-law, William Pierson Hamilton and Herbert L. Satterlee, receive each an outright legacy of $1,000,000. A special provision for his son, J. P. Morgan, jr., is that all "my right, title and interest as patron or fellow in perpetuity in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in the city of New York and in the American Museum of Natural History in said city, and all similar rights in other institutions of like character, of which I may die possessed," be transferred to him. If his son already possessed such rights, then they are given to the grandson, Junius. All the foregoing provisions for the wife and children are made preferential provisions.

Having thus cared for his immediate family, Mr. Morgan proceeds to make provision for various relatives.

"To Jennie Bigelow Tracy (the widow of his brother-in-law, Charles Edward Tracy,) the income for life of a trust fund of $1,000,000, the capital upon her death to go to the issue of Charles Edward Tracy, and to his two sisters-in-law, Clara Tracy Hoppin and Julia N. Brown, each the income for life from trust funds of $100,000 each: these funds to be bequeathed in turn, upon their deaths, to the heirs of these relatives.

Then follows provisions for Lucy Eldredge Lee, for Florence M. Rhett, during many years a member of my household, and for Ethel Bangs Wallace. Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Wallace, old family friends, receive each the income for life of a trust fund of $100,000, Mrs. Rhett receives as an annual income for life $10,000. Further personal bequests are:

Remembers Physician.

To Miss Mary G. McIlvaine, of London, a life income of $25,000 per annum; to J. Beaver-Webb, an outright legacy of $250,000. Dr. James W. Markoe, a warm friend of Mr. Morgan's and for many years his personal physician, is to receive for life, and his wife after him if she survives him, an annual income of $25,000. Mr. Morgan adds this touching tribute to Dr. Markoe: "I make this provision for the benefit of Dr. Markoe and his wife in recognition of our long friendship and of his devoting for many years of almost his entire time and energy to the service of the Lying-in hospital, an institution in which I have been greatly interested."

Miss Bella DaCosta Green, "who has long been my efficient librarian," receives an outright legacy of $50,000; Miss Ada Thurston, assistant librarian, receives an outright legacy of $10,000. To Captain W. B. Portii, (commander of the Corsair,) "my sailing master, if he shall be in my employment at the time of my death, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, in recognition of his long and faithful service," is given. After this there is given "to Charles W. King, for many years my private secretary, the sum of $25,000, as a mark of my appreciation of faithful service."

An unusual clause follows, showing Mr. Morgan thought for all the people who have been near him in his daily work. This clause reads as follows:

Bequests for Employes.

"To each of the employes at the time of my death of my firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., of the city of New York, except Charles W. King, above named, an amount equal to one year's salary of such employe at such time; to each person who shall survive me who was at the time of the dissolution of my firm of J. S. Morgan & Co., of London, an employe thereof, an amount equal to one year's salary of such employe at the time of such dissolution."

The old firm of J. S. Morgan & Co. was several years ago succeeded by Morgan, Grenfell & Co.

Mr. Morgan's valet, Edward Phillips, received a legacy of $15,000 and various annuities are provided to other servants in recognition of faithful service." Further, a legacy of $1,000 is given "unto each servant of my household, whether in New York, Cragston, Princess Gate or Dover house, who shall be in my service at the time of my death and shall have been continuously employed by me for not less than five years, then next preceding, other than those above mentioned to whom I have herein before given legacies or annuities."

For Religious Purposes.

The will bequeats to the trustees of the estate and property of the diocesan convention of New York, the following two sums:

Five hundred thousand dollars upon trust to apply to the income for the support of the ministry of St. George's church; and the sum of $100,000, in trust, the income of which is to be applied for the support of Protestant Episcopal missionary stations. L. S. NOLD IS PROMOTED

Well Known Accountant to Go to Long Island City May 1.

B. R. T. READY FOR THE BIG SHOW

Four Days' Charity Fair Opens at Minuet Hall Tonight.

L. S. Nold, for a number of years connected with the auditing department of the Fort Wayne Electric works of the General Electric company, has received a nice promotion, effective May 1. On that date he will take a responsible position with the General Electric company's plant at Long Island City, L. I., and will reside in Jamaica. Mr. Nold is now seeking a house in the latter city and hopes to be able to move his family there soon after he assumes his new duties. Mr. Nold's latter service with the Fort Wayne Electric works has been in the capacity of treasurer. He was previously at the head of the auditing department, where his abilities as an accountant served him well. There are none better in the country. While the acquaintance of the members of the family will rejoice in the promotion that has fallen to Mr. Nold's lot, they will regret the removal of the family from the city. It is understood that no successor will be named for Mr. Nold, but that in the reorganization of the departments at the Electric works, the duties now performed by him will be divided and assigned to several others.

FAIR OPENS TONIGHT.

B. R. T. Charitable Event at Minuet Hall.

A number of ladies and gentlemen gave the finishing touches to the booths and decorations at Minuet hall this afternoon and at 7 o'clock this evening they will open the most interesting charity event ever given in Fort Wayne. It is the second fair given by Fort Wayne lodge No. 136, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, for the purpose of replenishing the fund used for charitable purposes by the brotherhood. Although it comes at an inauspicious time following the most distressing flood ever known in the city—the fair is going to a decided financial success, for the advance sale of tickets has been immense.

Minuet hall never was more elaborately decorated, the colors being white, blue and green, emblematic of the order, and the arrangement of the various hangers, festoons and other pieces are a credit to the decorative abilities of the men and women who designed and placed them. There are six booths, each abundantly supplied with the goods they are to sell. The flower booth is located in the center of the large dance hall and above it are large ceiling decorations consisting of colored electric lamps and ribbons and radiating from it are festoons of ribbons and lights to every part of the hall. This booth will be in charge of the Misses Bertha Imbody, Elnora Carpenter, Gertrude Seeley and Helen Sunley. Mrs. Lulu Abery, D. E. Wolf and J. A. Spade will have charge of the candy booth; Mrs. Lillian Endinger and Mrs. George Sunley, Thomas Harter and J. R. Craig will have charge of the doll booth; Mrs. La Tourette and Harry McNamara will preside at the fancy booth. Mrs. Dora Imbody and Mrs. George Sunley, L. Christman and D. M. Wolf will serve refreshments at the lunch booth; Mrs. Abery, C. F. Fissel, J. E. Karns and B. F. Snyder will have charge of the country store, while the stein and cut glass booth will be looked after by Mrs. Haddox, R. C. Phipps, H. E. Giem and D. F. Burnau. W. Logan will have charge of all big donations on the floor, while the dance hall in the gallery will be presided over by R. E. McNally and William Clemens. Some of the high officials of the B. R. T. will be in attendance at the fair at some time during its progress. Val Fitzpatrick, first vice president of the international body of the B. R. T., of Columbus, O., arrived here this afternoon and A. F. Whitney, of Chicago, third vice president, will arrive this evening and be at the opening of the big event. It was hoped to bring President W. G. Lee here this week, but business may interfere with that part of the program. Especial attention has been given to the electrical part of the decorations in the hall and on the street in front of the building and last night the system was given a test, which proved its excellency. This work was the donation from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The fair will continue three days and four nights and the public is earnestly invited to patronize it because of the charitable character of the entertainment.

A SANITARY MOVEMENT.

Pennsylvania Inaugurates New Dining Car Rule.

The Pennsylvania railroad has established a rule which shall debar from employment in its dining cars and restaurant department any person with even a tendency toward a communicable disease.

There is to be a quarterly physical examination of every employe who has anything whatsoever to do with the preparation or serving of food. Dishwashers, kitchen helpers, cooks and waiters, both white and colored, must undergo a rigid examination every three months, and only a 100 per cent. report on their physical condition will permit their remaining in the service.

While those suffering from tuberculosis, diseases of the eye or skin, and other communicable disease, may not be employed in any capacity where they might come in contact with food, the further precaution is taken in debarring them from employment in places where linens and tableware are kept.

If a Pennsylvania railroad dining car or restaurant employe becomes disabled through any cause, he shall not be permitted to return to work until he receives a "certificate of ability" from one of the company's doctors.

In order to surround the service with every possible precaution, there are provided at "lay-over points" for dining car stewards, waiters and cooks, special lodgings with clean linens, clean beds and every sanitary precaution. These lodgings are inspected personally by the superintendent of dining cars and restaurants, by service inspectors and by medical examiners of the company.

PREDICTS RAPID GROWTH.

W. C. Maxwell Says Fort Wayne Will Have 100,000 People.

"You have a fine city and the most promising industrial center on the Wabash road, between Toledo and St. Louis," said W. C. Maxwell, general traffic manager of the Wabash, when in the city with other railway officials last week. "I have noticed the industrial and general business expansion of Fort Wayne for several years and I predict that the next census will show a population of over 100,000," continued Mr. Maxwell. No man is better informed in the industrial and general business conditions of the cities and towns in the central states than Mr. Maxwell and his views concerning such matters are founded upon actual conditions and are reliable.

GASH IN SCALP.

Engineer Polhamus Injured by Coal Chute.

Saturday Engineer J. C. Polhamus sustained a cut on the top of the head which exposed to view the skull for a space of four inches. He was climbing over the tender of his engine at the coal docks when he came in contact with the chute. Fortunately the skull is not fractured nor is there symptoms of concussion, and Engineer Polhamus will be at work in a week or so.

GONE TO SAFETY MEETING.

General Yardmaster C. D. Rose and Chief Car Inspector Thomas Knight, of the Lake Shore, joined other yardmasters and inspectors at Hillsdale this morning and at 8 o'clock started upon the first monthly inspection of the lines by the safety committee, under the lead of Supt. M. L. Reynolds, who is chairman of the committee. The personnel of the committee is as follows:

Division Claim Agent E. R. Mitchell, committee on highway crossings; Roadmaster G. M. McMillen, Roadmaster T. W. Dempsey, Signal Engineer Paul Binnis, committee on frogs and switches; Road Foreman of Engines P. J. Miller, Locomotive Engineer W. A. Stephenson, General Yardmaster C. D. Rose, committee on clearance; Agent E. S. Manchester, of Pleasant Lake, Conductor G. G. Brott, Fireman B. J. Head, committee on freight houses; Assistant Master Mechanic C. B. Nelson, Round House Foreman R. L. Moore, Chief Car Inspector Thomas Knight, Division Storekeeper F. M. Savage, committee on round houses; Signal Engineer E. F. Ernsberger, Section Foreman D. McKerring, committee on switches and signal lights.

W. J. REIDT MAKES A CHANGE.

William J. Reidt took a position as foreman of the tool department of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works, at Canal street and the Nickel Plate railroad, this morning. He formerly held a similar position at the factory of the Western Gas Construction company, resigning it last Saturday. The Wayne Oil Tank works are crowded with work and have been making additions to the working forces for several months.

WORKING ON EASTERN BRANCHES.

The Western division of the Pennsylvania system is still short of help in the maintenance of way department on account of a number of the men being engaged in repair work in the flooded districts of the lines in the eastern and central part of Ohio. Three foremen, twenty-five carpenters and about 100 laborers from this division are still working on some of the eastern branches, crippling the department at home and putting improvement work at a standstill. The damages by high waters in eastern Ohio were much greater than on the Pennsylvania lines in this part of the country.

FOUNDRY DAMAGED BY FIRE.

A fire originating in the roof near a cupola in the Bass car wheel foundry Saturday evening destroyed a big section of the roof and did other damage, amounting to about $2,000. The fire was hard to reach by the firemen, as it was beneath the slate shingles. Some of the car wheels made that day and which were being tempered in pits were also damaged by water reaching them while they were redhot, but a greater damage of this kind was averted by building dams around the pits. The damage is covered by insurance.

CHARLES BRADLEY LEAVES HOSPITAL.

Yesterday Charles Bradley, who sustained severe injuries, included being a compound fracture of both legs, August 13, has recovered sufficiently to leave the St. Joseph hospital and go to his home. Mr. Bradley's injuries were received when a Pennsylvania switch engine bumped against a car in which he was working and caused the contents to shift and fall upon him. For awhile it was feared he would lose one of the limbs, but it has been saved. Mr. Bradley will not be able to work for some weeks, however.

HAD FOUR RIBS BROKEN.

August White, a brother-in-law to Blacksmith F. X. Miller, of the Pennsylvania shops, was severely injured last week in a runaway accident near his home in Wallen. He was thrown from the wagon and four ribs were broken and other injuries received. Mr. White is well known in railway and shop circles in the city. Mrs. Miller, who had been visiting her brother, returned home last night.

MOVING ON SCHEDULE TIME.

The Western division of the Pennsylvania has practically recovered from the effects of the high water along the line and is now moving trains on schedule time. Sunday there were over 2,000 freight cars handled in and out of Crestline on the division, which is considered a good business, though it is not a record breaker.

ENGINE DROP PIT COMPLETED.

The big drop pit for the removal of locomotive drivers at the Wabash shops, will be in service again tomorrow morning, having been thoroughly overhauled, enlarged and strengthened to meet the demand for heavier work. This drop pit was out of commission six weeks.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

R. W. Cowen and J. Z. Berlin, Pennsylvania engineers, are sick and off duty.

Master Mechanic G. W. Smith, of the Wabash, was in Peru today on business for the company.

Blacksmith Owen Barry is off duty at the Pennsylvania shops on account of his furnace being out of repair.

William Gibson, gang foreman at the Pennsylvania round house, is taking a lay off to look after some private business.

R. J. Fisher left this morning for Chicago. Thence he will go to St. Louis, returning here some time the latter part of the week. His mission is business for the Bass company.

E. Kuhn, who had a foot bruised a week ago, and E. C. DesPrez, who had an eye injured a week ago, resumed their respective duties in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

R. J. Hughes, C. H. Geise, Ed Streuchen, J. E. Monahan and Felix Logan, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

D. J. Keane, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, will be off duty a few days as a result of an injured foot last Saturday.

B. F. Sarvey, foreman of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania shops, went to Orrville, Ohio, on business for the company this morning.

The Pennsylvania division storekeepers closed a three days' session last Saturday and those residing out of the city left in time to spend Sunday with their families.

John H. Frame, superintendent of the National Handle company, left this morning for Frankfort, Ind., and Indianapolis in the interest of that company.

Engineer Peter O'Hara, of the Pennsylvania, left for Pittsburg last night on business that will keep him there the balance of the week.

WILL STOP LOCAL FRATS.

School Board Has Appealed to Parents of Students.

A new war of extermination has been declared on the secret societies of the Fort Wayne High school. Although a similar war was waged two years ago, at which time all students signed a pledge that they would sever their connections with any fraternity or sorority to which they belonged, and would not join another while they were in high school, the students seem to again favor the secret societies.

The school board has reason to believe that the frats have either been regenerated or were never fully abandoned, and letters from the board are being sent to the parents of high school students. Parents are asked to upold the laws of the state and to take the side of the board of trustees and school executives, in order that the schools may be rid of this evil. The letter of the trustees to the parents refers to the Phi Delta Kappa dance, which is to be given at the Minuet hall on April 25, and urges parents of high school pupils to keep their children away from the function.

BOY PLEADS FOR FATHER.

Throws His Arms Around Governor's Neck in Supplication.

Trenton, N. J., April 21.—"Please, dear governor, let my papa come home. We need him." With his arms about the governor's neck, the young son of David H. Brand begged him to release his father from state prison. Brand is serving a seven-year sentence for arson. At a meeting of the board of prison inspectors his petition was favorably passed upon and the board recommended him to the governor for pardon. Mrs. Brand, with her young son and daughter, visited Governor Fielder. While she was talking the boy threw his arms about the governor and begged until Governor Fielder and all the others in the room was moved to tears. It is understood that the governor will free Brand.

HITS AT INDIANA TEACHER'S VIEW

California School Principal in Favor of State Ownership.

AMENT AGAINST IT

Pittsburg, April 21.—Prof. W. S. Herzog, the recently appointed principal of the Southwestern state normal school at California, is decidedly in favor of the state owning the normal schools. In this he is diametrically opposite to the sentiment expressed in a very similar speech made by Principal James E. Ament of the Indiana state normal school several weeks ago.

Prof. Herzog aired his views before the annual banquet of the Allegheny County Alumni association of his institution, and so did Dr. Ament. Therefore honors are even so far as the public expression of opinion as to the state's taking over the thirteen institutions is concerned—that is, to the normal school alumni of the county. The California alumni gathered nearly 200 strong at the Monongahela house, and there was a jolly social side to the affair that made it a delightful reunion of the old grads of the normal up the Monongahela river.

Prof. Herzog unhesitatingly refuted the argument previously handed out that the normal school system would be nothing but a political football if the entire control of this educational chain were given to the state. Prof. Herzog maintains that it is a state function to prepare teachers for the public schools and therefore the state should have the entire control in its own hands.

Praises School Code.

"There is no better state law in the United States than the new school code that has just gone into effect," he said in paying a tribute to the commission that framed this system. "It was a careful and wise body of men that modeled the code and finally saw it passed through the legislature after it had been whittled and carved into shape.

"But there is another thing we should pay strict attention to," he continued. "That is the section that makes it possible for the state to control its own normal schools. Are the people going to try and make this section non-effective? We are not state owned now, although the state has a mortgage on us. Why shouldn't the state have absolute control?"

Prof. Herzog said there were not a half dozen states in the country that had privately managed normal schools. He declared it was too easy to be self-satisfied and stick to the old order of things, but he heartily expressed himself that the educators of the state might as well face a new order. Speaking of the argument that state ownership would simply give the "machine" more political power, he said:

If there has ever been a state with a black reputation politically Pennsylvania has had that reputation. But does anyone believe that our schools have been manipulated by politics? Is our state board of education a political tool? The dominant thought in the state board is efficiency, and that is the dominant thought contained in the plan of state ownership.

Would Eliminate Rivalry.

Prof. Herzog appealed to the alumni to do all in their power to spread this idea, for he said that there should be no rivalry between the thirteen institutions under ideal conditions, and this was one of the main things that will grow out of central management. He declared no district should have superior advantages, and that the new order would strengthen the weaker districts. He thought also that when the state board is in charge of the system every act will be public and approved by the people.

Rich - Garden - Farms

I have platted a very fine 100-acre farm into FIVE, TEN, FIFTEEN AND TWENTY acre garden tracts. The soil is rich and specially suited for gardening, lays beautifully, has exceedingly nice road frontage, and best of all, is located right at interurban station, on perhaps, the best passenger service interurban out of Fort Wayne. These gardens are located just 6½ miles from our court house door and directly front on the best improved pike road out of Fort Wayne. It's a delight to automobile or drive out on this pike.

Small - Tract - Properties

Are becoming very scarce around Fort Wayne, especially is it difficult to get the combination of things desirable, Viz: —RICH GARDEN SOIL, beautiful location and road frontage, with the interurban stop at your door, and on exceptionally good pike road direct to the city not too far out. This 100-acre small garden farm tract addition has all these desirable features. I am ready now to show this addition, and I shall make the price exceptionally attractive. I am in position also to take your city property in exchange. If you are interested call at my office, Room 526 Shoaff Building, or Telephone, Office, 3083, Residence, 3195.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 21.—First prices of the active stocks showed few variations of importance, with the exception of Southern Pacific, which advanced a point. Cotton Oil declined a point. Union Pacific and Amalgamated opened unchanged and Steel advanced a small fraction on an initial transaction of 1,000 shares. An easier tone developed during the first few minutes of trading.

Trading was perfunctory through the morning and fluctuations were restricted to unusually narrow limits. Wall street regarded the intention of the government to intervene in the railroad rate cases before the supreme court as promising further indefinite delay before the final settlement of the important issue involved. The prospect was discouraging to speculators who had been hoping for an early decision. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed strong. Union Pacific, Reading and Amalgamated improved two points while Steel, Smelting, Northern Pacific and other standard stocks gained a point or more.

The work of excavating for the new $100,000 cold storage warehouse and produce building, to be erected at the corner of Murray and Clinton streets by The Sherman White company, started this morning. Architect M. S. Mahurin, who prepared the plans for the structure, declares that more than 8,000 yards of dirt will have to be removed before starting the foundations.

SALT BATHS FOR FRISCANS.

San Francisco, Cal., April 21.—The introduction of the salt water auxiliary fire system, which will be in operation in two months, provides an opportunity for giving San Francisco homes a luxury that is enjoyed by dwellers in no other city in the world—an unlimited supply of water from the Pacific. The system, with its tremendous pressure, is for protective purposes in cases of fire, but the water may be carried through the residence district. As it is now, athletic clubs and several big bathing places have salt water on tap for the plunge, shower and tub baths, but with the extension every home may enjoy the luxury.

TRAINS SCARED HIM STIFF.

Muscles Set So Firmly by Man That He Can't Unlimber.

Hartford, Conn., April 21.—By standing sideways and holding himself perfectly erect between two express trains that whiled by him in opposite directions, William Scott, of Westminster, B. C., escaped uninjured. His companion, Thomas H. Ryan, of Binghampton, N. Y., tried to dart across the tracks. One of the trains caught and mangled him and threw his body 200 yards down the tracks. The two men had started across the tracks oblivious of the fact that either train was approaching. When the trains bore down upon them Scott realized it would be death to run in either direction, and with rare presence of mind he recalled having read that there was leeway of an inch or so between passing trains for a man of average size if he could hold himself. Scott did not find it easy to hold his feet. The air suction produced by the two trains nearly pulled him over, but he set his muscles so firmly that when the trains passed he could not unlimber until he was assisted.

THE REALLY BIG NOYES IN POETRY

Is Only Highbrow Poet Who Makes His Living in the Business.

NOW ON A VISIT HERE

Alfred Noyes, in all probability the next poet laureate of England, is the only poet on record, living or dead, who makes poetry pay.

He earns a comfortable livelihood, maintains a country residence in England, and supports an American wife exclusively from the sale of his published works.

He confesses to this amazing state of affairs without the suggestion of a blush. The secret, this greatest living writer of English poetry affirms, is much a matter of personality and appearance.

"Being human and not long haired or moody" is a large share of the financial success of a twentieth century poet, he says. "When it knows you to be one of it, the public is already half converted to your writings." this wise young man avers.

Alfred Noyes is a thoroughly normal man. He is over six feet tall, a genuine blond, blue eyed and pre-eminently practical. Contrary to tradition he doesn't look impecunious nor dreamy-eyed.

At the age of 32 he has ten published volumes to his credit and has made a reputation for himself as a reader of his own verse and a lecturer on poetry in general.

"Do you write poetry because you like to, because you can't help it or because there is money in it?" he was asked the other day, while staying at an American hotel.

"Certainly not because there is money in it, although there is," he answered quickly, "for I have written poetry ever since I was 9 years old. So I think it must be because I like it. No one can do anything well that they do not like to do."

The brilliant English poet is an Oxford man, an all-around athlete and a crack tennis player.

"I'm not a long-haired, out-at-elbow, moon gazing creature," he frequently admonishes a new acquaintance. And "don't make me look too ridiculous" is his favorite parting injunction to the American newsgatherer.

Alfred Noyes is making a short visit to America. It is his first one. He is engaged to lecture in several eastern cities, but his chief purpose is to write a series of America and American people for a London publication.

"Are they to be semi-comic?" he was asked.

"Oh, no, indeed. They're to be very serious. Although I often joke in conversation, I'm a tremendously serious person, don't you know!"

What did he write? Oh, the beautiful dream story of "The Flower of Old Japan," "Poems," and many, many other pictures of a vivid imagination into which great truths are weaved.

Flat Foot Epidemic Annoying Ultra-Fashionables of St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—That most plebian of diseases, fallen arch, or flat foot, has invaded the circles of ultra-fashionables of St. Louis, and now is epidemic, according to physicians. One physician in the last two weeks has had more than 100 cases under treatment, and averages about seven new cases a day. The trouble is due to the new vogue in footwear. The flat-heeled English walking shoe now is much in fashion among young women. These shoes, which are on the order of those worn in childhood, cause certain muscles of the foot, which are supported by the high-heeled shoe, to sag. Standing on street cars is said to be a frequent cause of the trouble. The first symptom of the disease is a pain in the foot a little below and in front of the ankle. This is followed by pains in the small of the back and then pains in the heel.

TRAPS 21 BLACK SKUNKS.

Choicest Pelts Bring from $4 to $4.50 Each.

Janesville, Wis., April 21.—Two hunters from Fort Atkinson made a rich haul in skunks at Lake Koshkonong, securing twenty-one fine black pelts in one day. Just at this season of the year the skunks appear to awake from their long winter sleep and are great visitors to each others' burrows. They are easily tracked and the Fort Atkinson hunters found many lairs. Setting their traps inside the mouth of the holes, they then proceeded to drown out the inmates and as they came to the surface and were caught in the traps, stabbed them behind the shoulder through the heart with a long stiletto knife. Eleven pelts were secured from one locality and ten from an adjacent hill. There appears to be an excess number of these little pests around the lake and the pelts are mostly black and with thin, narrow black stripes, most coveted by furriers. They bring from $4 to $4.50 a pelt when properly cured.

ACTRESS GETS NO MELON.

Bernhardt Tries to Buy Huge Citron, but Has to Forego Feast.

Redlands, Cal., April 21.—When Mme. Sarah Bernhardt appeared at Redlands two members of Bernhardt's company visited the chamber of commerce display rooms and seeing a large citron weighing seventy pounds, reported to the madame that they had seen the largest "melon" ever grown. The madame's lips smacked, as melon is one of her great weak spots, and she at once ordered two of her men to go to the chamber and buy the melon, disregarding such a mundane consideration as the price to pay. But their importunities were unavailing and it was only after much questioning that Miss Ripy, in charge of the exhibit, learned what the actress really wanted. "Why," she then told the men, "tell Mme. Bernhardt this is a citron—not a melon. Here in California we use them for cattle feed and they would certainly not be good for her to eat."

FALLING KNIFE KILLS MAN.

Heavy Blade Penetrates Lung and Death Soon Results.

Hagerstown, Md., April 21.—Roy Claybaugh, about 25 years old, was accidentally killed in a peculiar manner while cutting straw on a stack at the Dorn farm near Detour. Falling from a ladder on which he was standing, he landed safely on his feet, but the straw knife, weighing six pounds, fell from the top of the stack and struck him in the back, penetrating his body to a depth of nine inches, and entering one lung. Claybaugh, with great nerve, then reached around and pulled the knife out of his back and started toward the house, but when he had gone half way there he fell over exhausted from loss of blood and expired shortly afterward.
